MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

[Schedule V – Regulation 34(3) of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015]

Introduction

Management Discussion and Analysis mainly comprise of the statements which, inter-alia, involve predictions based on perceptions and may, therefore, be prone to uncertainties. It is the sum total of the Company's expectations, beliefs, estimates and projections which are forward looking within the meaning of applicable laws and regulations. The actual results could differ materially from those expressed herein specifically or impliedly.

a) INDUSTRY STRUCTURE AND DEVELOPMENTS

The Indian chemical industry is an integral part of the Indian economy. It is a knowledge-based industry and touches lives in many ways. The Pharma Sector is a major contributor to the Indian economy in terms of foreign exchange earnings and employments.

The Indian pharma industry is set for growth, buoyed by both strong domestic consumption as well as export demand.

However, with positive sentiments for India, we expect to do well in coming years.

b) OPPORTUNITIES & THREATS

Over the past many years, governments across the world have given more importance to controlling healthcare costs to balance their overall budgets. The COVID-19 pandemic and the economic costs that it has extracted, may force governments to revisit this presumption and try to strike a balance between providing adequate healthcare and the ability to fund it. While the pandemic obviously highlighted the importance of having an optimum healthcare infrastructure, it has also ignited a fresh debate on globalisation versus localisation. There is also a gradual realisation that the COVID-19 virus is here to stay and that all of us will have to learn to coexist with the virus till an effective treatment or vaccine becomes available. The industry is trying to develop a potential vaccine at a frantic pace while simultaneously putting in efforts to test existing drugs which can potentially aid COVID-19 treatment.

c) SEGMENT-WISE PERFORMANCE

The Company has only one line of business, i.e., Pharmaceuticals during the year under review, hence no segment wise information is required. The Company has no activity outside India. Therefore, there is no geographical segment.

d) OUTLOOK

Reports suggest that the medicine use is expected to increase by over 24% from 2015 to 2020 to reach 4.5 trillion doses in 2020 and a value of USD 1.4 trillion. Increased usage by emerging countries and increase of volumes in developed markets is projected to be the reason for this.

We will continue to focus on growing each of our businesses faster than the market in which we operate. R&D investments in developing a differentiated generic pipeline as well as in building our specialty pipeline will continue in the coming years.

e) RISKS & CONCERNS

Company's business, financial condition and results of operations are subject to certain risks and liabilities that may affect the Company's performance and ability to achieve its objectives. The factors that the Company believes could cause its actual results to differ materially from expected and historical results have been discussed hereunder. However, there are other risks and uncertainties that may affect the Company's performance and ability to achieve its objectives that are not currently known to the Company, or which are deemed immaterial. The pandemic has also affected India, but the vaccination drive has picked up momentum Pan India and outlook remains positive.

f) INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS AND THEIR ADEQUACY

The Company has a professional internal control system, which provides adequate safeguards and effective monitoring of transactions. The Company has a strong internal audit system and an Independent Internal Auditor. The Internal Auditor reports to the Chairman and the Audit Committee of the Board. Personnel of the Internal Auditor conduct periodical audits in all the areas to ensure that the Company's control mechanism is properly followed and all statutory requirements are duly complied with.

g) CAUTIONARY STATEMENT

Statements in the Management Discussion and Analysis describing the Company's expectations or predictions may be forward looking within the meaning of applicable laws or regulations. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

7. Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial control over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial controls over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

8. In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2021, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Total deferred tax liabilities (B)	211.05	309.16
Deferred tax Liability recognised (net) (C = A-B)	185.86	309.16

The movement in net deferred tax liability has been recorded through statement of profit and loss.

The Company offsets tax assets and liabilities if and only if it has a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets and current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same tax authority.

The company has changed accounting policy (Refer Note 2N) and has now adopted Balance sheet approach in place of Profit and Loss approach followed earlier for calculation of Deferred Tax Assets/ Deferred Tax Liabilities. Due to the change in the accounting policy the current year tax expenditure has been reduced to the tune of INR 119.31 lacs. As a result, profit after tax has increased by the same amount.

In assessing the realisability of deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is probable, that some portion, or all, of the deferred tax assets will not be realised. The ultimate realisation of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable incomes over the periods in which the deferred tax assets are deductible, management believes that it is probable that the Company will be able to realise the benefits of those deductible differences in future and vice-versa.

38. Segment information

In accordance with Indian Accounting Standard (Ind AS) 108 on Operating segments, company has identified pharmaceutical business as its primary segment and its information has been given in the standalone financial statements of the Company, and therefore no separate disclosure on segment information is given in these financial statements.

39. Significant accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the Company's financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, accompanying disclosures and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities affected in future periods.

Judgements

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgements, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgements, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

(a) Determination of functional currency

The determination of functional currency often requires significant judgement where the primary economic environment in which they operate may not be clear. In determining the functional currency, judgement is required to determine the currency that mainly reflects the economic substance of the underlying economic event.

(b) Determining the lease term of contracts with renewal and termination options - the Company as lessee

“The Company determines the lease term as the non-cancellable term of the lease, together with any periods covered by an option to extend the lease if it is reasonably certain to be exercised, or any periods covered by an option to terminate the lease, if it is reasonably certain not to be exercised.

The Company has several lease contracts that include extension and termination options. The Company applies judgement in evaluating whether it is reasonably certain whether or not to exercise the option to renew or terminate the lease. That is, it considers all relevant factors that create an economic incentive for it to exercise either the renewal or termination. After the commencement date, the Company reassesses the lease term if there is a significant event or change in circumstances that is within its control and affects its ability to exercise or not to exercise the option to renew or to terminate.”

(c) Taxes

The Company based on its business plan along with supporting convincing evidence including future projections of profit believes that the used tax credits would be utilised within the stipulated time period as per the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Estimates and assumptions

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are described below. The Company based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Company. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

(a) Impairment of non-financial assets

The carrying amounts of the Company’s non-financial assets are reviewed for impairment at each balance sheet date if there is any indication of impairment based on internal and external factors. If any such indication exists, then the asset’s recoverable amount is estimated.

The recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit (CGU) is the greater of the assets value in use and its fair value less costs to sell. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset or CGU. The fair value less costs of disposal calculation is based on available data from binding sales transactions, conducted at arm’s length, for similar assets or observable market prices less incremental costs for disposing of the asset.

For the purpose of impairment testing, assets that cannot be tested individually are grouped together into the smallest group of assets that generates cash inflows from continuing use that are largely independent of the cash inflows of other assets or groups of assets (‘CGU’).

Market related information and estimates are used to determine the recoverable amount. Key assumptions on which management has based its determination of recoverable amount include estimated long term growth rates, weighted average cost of capital and estimated operating margins. Cash flow projections take into account past experience and represent management’s best estimate about future developments.

(b) Fair value measurement of financial instruments

When the fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded in the balance sheet cannot be measured based on quoted prices in active markets, their fair value is measured using valuation techniques including the discounted cash flow model. The inputs to these models are taken from observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, a degree of judgement is required in establishing fair values. Judgements include considerations of inputs such as liquidity risk, credit risk volatility and discount rates. Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect the reported fair value of financial instruments. See note 42 for further disclosures.

(c) Useful life of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

The carrying value of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets is arrived at by depreciating the assets over the useful life of assets. The management believes that the useful lives currently used fairly reflect its estimate of the useful lives and residual values. The estimate of useful life is reviewed at the end of each financial year and changes are accounted for prospectively.

(d) Defined benefit plans

The cost of the defined gratuity plan along with their present values are determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from the actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate, future salary increases and mortality rates. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, a defined benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date.

The parameter most subject to change is the discount rate. In determining the appropriate discount rate for plans operated in India, the management considers the interest rates of government bonds in currencies consistent with the currencies of the post-employment benefit obligation. The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for the specific countries. Those mortality tables tend to change only at interval in response to demographic changes. Future salary increases and gratuity increases are based on expected future inflation rates. Further details about gratuity obligations are given in Note 37.

(e) Taxes

In assessing the realisability of deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is probable, that some portion, or all, of the deferred tax assets will not be realised. The ultimate realisation of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of historical taxable income and projections for future taxable incomes over the periods in which the deferred tax assets are deductible, management believes that it is probable that the Company will be able to realise the benefits of those deductible differences in future.

(f) Provisions and contingencies

The assessments undertaken in recognising provisions and contingencies have been made in accordance with the applicable Ind AS. A provision is recognised, if as a result of a past event, the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation that can be estimated reliably, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation. Where the effect of time value of money is material, provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows

In the normal course of business, contingent liabilities may arise from litigation and other claims against the Company. There are certain obligations which the management has concluded, based on all available facts and circumstances, are not probable of payment and such obligations are treated as contingent liabilities and disclosed in the notes but are not reflected as liabilities in the financial statements. Refer note 35 (c).

(g) Leases - Estimating the incremental borrowing rate

“The Company cannot readily determine the interest rate implicit in the lease, therefore, it uses its incremental borrowing rate (IBR) to measure lease liabilities. The IBR is the rate of interest that the Group would have to pay to borrow over a similar term, and with a similar security, the funds necessary to obtain an asset of a similar value to the right-of-use asset in a similar economic environment. The IBR therefore reflects what the Company ‘would have to pay’, which requires estimation when no observable rates are available or when they need to be adjusted to reflect the terms and conditions of the lease. The Company estimates the IBR using observable inputs (such as market interest rates) when available. Currently this is not applicable as the company does not have any long term lease agreements”

41. Financial risk management objectives and policies

The Company’s principal financial liabilities comprise borrowings, trade and other payables. The main purpose of these financial liabilities is to finance the Company’s operations. The Company’s principal financial assets include trade and other receivables and cash and cash equivalents that derive directly from its operations.

The Company is exposed primarily to market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company’s risk management assessment and policies are established to identify and analyse the risks faced by the Company, to set appropriate risk limits and controls, and to monitor such risks and compliance with the same. Risk assessment and management policies are reviewed regularly to reflect changes in market conditions and the Company’s activities. The Board of Directors and the Audit Committee is responsible for overseeing the Company’s risk assessment and management policies.

(a) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Such changes in the values of financial instruments may result from changes in the foreign currency exchange rates, interest rates, prices, liquidity and other market changes. The Company’s exposure to market risk is primarily on account of foreign currency exchange rate risk and interest rate risk.

(i) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company’s exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates because it borrows funds at both fixed and floating interest rates. The Company manages its interest rate risk by having a balanced portfolio of fixed and variable rate loans and borrowings.

As the Company has no significant interest bearing assets, the income and operating cash flows are substantially independent of changes in market interest rates.

(i) Price risk

The Company is mainly exposed to the price risk due to its investment in mutual funds. The price risk arises due to uncertainties about the future market values of these investments. The Company has diversified its investments to manage the price risk.

(b) Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that counterparty will not meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. Credit risk encompasses of both, the direct risk of default and the risk of deterioration of creditworthiness as well as concentration of risks. Credit risk is controlled by analysing credit limits and creditworthiness of customers on a continuous basis to whom the credit has been granted after obtaining necessary approvals of credit. Financial instruments that are subject to concentrations of credit risk principally consist of trade receivables, investments, derivative financial instruments, cash and cash equivalents, loans and other financial assets. None of the financial instruments of the Company result in material concentration of credit risk.

Trade receivables and other financial assets:

The Company's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by the individual characteristics of each customer. However, the management also evaluates the factors that may influence the credit risk of its customer base, including the default risk and country in which the customers operate. The management has established a credit policy under which each new customer is analysed individually for creditworthiness before the Company's standard payment and delivery terms and conditions are offered. The Company's review includes external ratings, if available, financial statements, credit agency information, industry information and in some cases bank references.

An impairment analysis is performed at each reporting date on an individual basis for major clients. In addition, a large number of minor receivables are grouped into homogenous groups and assessed for impairment collectively. The Company assesses at each reporting date whether a financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired. The maximum exposure to credit risk at the reporting date is the carrying value of trade and other receivables.

Concentration of credit risk with respect to trade receivables is limited, since the majority of the Company's revenue is generated from group companies. All trade receivables other than from group companies are reviewed and assessed for default on a regular basis. The Company's receivables turnover is quick and historically, there was no significant default on account of trade and other receivables.
